

Limbaria

Chequered Copper, Small Copper, Grassland Copper

Lucia limbaria

This little butterfly may be seen at any time during the warmer months. It flutters near the ground across grasslands, pausing to feed at small flowers. It lays its eggs on Oxalis, a low herb that looks rather like clover but has yellow flowers.

10 mm

Male Chequered Copper

Oxalis spp.

Female Chequered Copper

Underside of a female Chequered Copper